LUCIE, Fla. — After the golf, after the range, when the cart rolled away, Aaron Judge took his seat in the outfield. He wasn't quite sure how he was going to play in center field after spending most of last season at right field and second base. "I've always been a center fielder," Judge said. "I've always played center." When the Yankees moved Judge to right field in spring training, he was asked if he had a plan if he found himself playing in the outfield. But on Monday in Port St. Lucie, his answer was a resounding, "Absolutely not." He hasn't switched positions since he was a kid, and he wasn't going to change just because he had a new position....
